

Results-Based National Urban Transport Policy and Finance

---

Organizations making the Commitment:

- Institute for Transportation & Development Policy
- Carnegie Endowment for International Peace

Select Primary Sustainable Development Area:

Sustainable Transportation

Other Sustainable Development area:

Sustainable Cities

Keywords:

National, policy, transportation, infrastructure, finance, urban, sustainable cities, passenger transport, freight transport, performance, measurement, results-based, funding, urban transport, transportation pricing, indicators, land use, metropolitan planning, governance

Which Major Group does your organization identify with:

Non-governmental organizations

Location of where commitment is being implemented:

Global – all regions; India; Mexico; Brazil; United States

What will be achieved by the time commitment is fully delivered (max 100 words):

ITDP and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace will cooperate in developing a fall 2012 symposium on national urban transport policy and financing and disseminating the results of this through a synthesis document and follow up workshops and public forums in key countries in 2013. This will focus on common challenges faced by many countries that are striving to enable more effective implementation of results-based infrastructure investment and system management. As a result of this commitment, ITDP hopes at least four governments will adopt, update, or revise national policies to support sustainable transport by 2015.

Briefly describe how will this commitment be achieved (max 200 words):

On-the-ground interviews with key transport decision-makers, financing agencies, and experts in key countries will ensure relevant and up-to-date knowledge development, complemented with expert forum. Results will be disseminated through Regional Environmentally Sustainable Transport (EST) Forums, the International Transport Forum's Annual meeting, and other venues. A publication and online distribution will make the results of a discussion with key global leaders and experts widely available. Follow on workshops and targeted strategic assistance will help officials in key countries focus on how lessons from the discussion of common challenges can be brought to bear in solving local political and governance barriers to effective national urban transport policy and finance system reforms aimed at rewarding results and performance. This will be complemented with strategic support for best practice implementation of national urban transport policies at the sub-national level in targeted venues that can establish new models for replication. Enhanced performance evaluation and decision-support tools for transport investments and policies, e.g., the Transport Emissions Evaluation Model for Projects (TEEMP), and related training and capacity building will further enable performance-focused funding reforms.

Date of Completion of commitment:

October 2012 – Symposium on Common Challenges completed

Deliverables :

(Please add at least one, and up to four, tangible deliverable(s), including the final deliverable, preferably with measurable indicators.)

Deliverable	Date
Report on Meeting Common Challenges to Effective National Urban Transport Policy and Financing	March 2013
Discussion at 2013 International Transport Forum and other venues	December 2013

Resources devoted to delivery:

There is space for 4 types of resources

	Type	Details
1	Select One: - Financing (USD) - In kind contribution - Other, please specify - Staff Technical Expertise -	USD$51,000 ITDP support for joint report preparation and meeting organization.
2	Select One: - Financing (USD) - In kind contribution - Other, please specify - Staff Technical Expertise	Staff & Technical Expertise -- 1.0 staff years per year senior experts for management, writing, dissemination, consultation with key national governments
3	Select One: - Financing (USD) - In kind contribution - Other, please specify - Staff Technical Expertise
4	Select One: - Financing (USD) - In kind contribution - Other, please specify - Staff Technical Expertise

--	--	--

Contact person for information relating to commitment:

Name: Michael Replogle

Title: Global Policy Director and Founder, ITDP

Email: Michael.replogle@itdp.org

Telephone: +1 202 552 3212